TELEGRAPHIC

WINNIPEG, Nov. 25, 1886.

Ex-president Arthur died last Thursday of cerebral apoplexy.

General Strange will be a candidate for one of the N. W. T. constituencies.

It is pretty generally understood now that the federal elections will not be held this year.

A disastrous fire visited Portage la Prairie last Tuesday morning. $120,000 worth of property destroyed.

The eastern embargo remains unchanged. Russian consuls have made an ignominious flight from Bulgaria.

The Princess Beatrice has been safely accouched of a son. Lord Randolph Churchill was present representing the ministry.

Hon. Thos. White has received the unanimous nomination of the conservative convention for the county of Marquette, Manitoba, in opposition to R. Watson. He may accept.

Basil Richotte, a half-breed living two miles from Winnipeg was murdered by Pierre Larocque last Sunday, being shot with a gun. The coroner's jury has returned a verdict of wilful murder.

Sir Chas. Dilke in an interview with a reporter of Figaro in relation to the Crawford divorce case said he had proved to his friends that he was the victim of a conspiracy and would publicly prove the truth of this charge in another suit which he would bring to establish his innocence.

A fight recently took place between a band of Crow Indians and some American trappers on the Missouri river in Montana. It is said the trappers were stealing game from their traps and a vigorous fight ensued. The trappers were five in number and were armed with Winchester rifles and shot guns. One trapper was killed but the Indians were driven back and pursued several miles. A number of Indian disturbances are now occurring in the west owing to the fact that a number of wandering bands of Indians have been persuaded to leave their reservations.

Bishop Laflechette of Three Rivers, Quebec, has issued a mandament forbidding the circulation of the Reilite paper Le Sentinel in his diocese and condemning in the strongest terms possible the Riel agitation. He declares the agitation to be caused by an association formed for that purpose, subversive of the influence of the clergy, opposed to the best interests of the country, and particularly dangerous to the French Canadian people. The mandament is another spoke in the Reilite's wheel, and when it is generally known will undoubtedly cause a sensation.

HANEY & HENDERSON arrived from their mine on Monday. They bring specimens of platinum washed out of the ashes of the furnace in which they attempted unsuccessfully to smelt gold this spring. They also bring specimens of gold as large as shot, and of sandstone saturated with coal tar or petroleum. The latter find was made by Lacombe of St. Albert in the bed of a creek a few miles from the mines. The sandstone was not in a ledge, but was a detached boulder.

GEN. STRANGE writes from Calgary under date of Nov. 18th: "While thanking you and the people of Edmonton generally for the kindly and loyal support given me in a time of danger and difficulty, I venture to hope you will still support me as an independent candidate to advocate the rights of the people of Alberta. I hope soon to be among you, not to tell you what you want, but to hear from the people what they want."

LAST week the BULLETIN was shown a loaf of home-made bread from native wheat of this year ground at Fraser & Co's mill that in color, taste and every quality that goes to make a first class article was equal or superior to bread from the best patent process flour ever imported. The production of such flour from native wheat will stop the importation of eastern flour to which the farmers so strongly and justly object.

JOS. MACDONALD arrived from Pitt on Saturday of last week. Pitt is almost deserted, there being only a small H. B. store there. There are some Indians at Onion lake where the Indian agency is, and also a police station. Most of the Pitt Indians are thrown on their own resources and are hunting in the woods far north of the river. They have not been paid treaty for two years.

Before Supt. Griesbach and R. Hardisty, J. P.'s, on Thursday morning the 25th inst., Baptiste Pepin plead guilty to a charge of being drunk and causing a disturbance in Edmonton on Tuesday evening, 23rd inst., and was fined $20 and costs.

LOCAL

RAIN to-day.

CHINOOK yesterday.

J. A. McDougall left for Lac la Biche last week.

DR. TELLOCH left for the south on Thursday with D. McLeod.

ONE passenger by Monday's stage—a cook for the Edmonton hotel.

E. RAYMER, jeweler, is occupying his new premises, next Jasper House.

INSPECTING SUPT. HERCHMER and Judge Rouleau left for Calgary to-day.

DR. WILSON, M.N.W.C., and bride arrived from Regina on Thursday evening.

W. McINNES arrived on Friday of last week with a load of apples from Calgary.

SUPT. HERCHMER and Judge Rouleau arrived from Calgary on Sunday evening.

A. D. OSBORNE and J. C. Cameron returned from their trip south on Sunday evening.

NORRIS & CAREY's carts left for Lac la Biche on Wednesday with freight for A. Hamelin.

THE candidature of Mr. Hardisty for the commons is being favorably received in Calgary.

GEORGE SUTHERLAND of Sturgeon river settlement has been appointed a justice of the peace.

INSP. BRADLEY and twenty men are expected to arrive shortly to reinforce G division of police.

NORTH-WEST COUNCIL adjourned on Tuesday the 16th inst., all the bills then receiving a third reading.

A. DAWSON for England, H. Bell for Ontario, and D. McPhaden for British Columbia left for Calgary on Friday.

DAVE's inspection survey party returned from the rear of St. Albert settlement yesterday. They go up the river to-day.

A PUBLIC school has been organized at Victoria. The school building is erected and a teacher engaged—a late member of Nelson's survey party.

JOHN C. NELSON and party, employed in surveying Indian reserves in the neighborhood of Victoria this summer left there for Calgary on the 15th inst.

CRACKER BOX JOHNSON is running a saloon in Ellensburg, Washington Territory, near the great Northern Pacific tunnel through the Cascade mountains.

JARVIS & STEWART arrived on Saturday last with one four and five two horse teams, with freight for P. Daly & Co., A. Macdonald & Co. and Dr. Wilson.

HOUSE WARMING at K. Macdonald's last night. Mr. Macdonald was the first man to stake a claim on the Edmonton town site—the claim that he still occupies.

F. PROVOST has been awarded the contract by the St. Albert mission of taking 200,000 feet of saw logs from their limit near Egg lake and delivering at the Sturgeon Mill.

THE telegraph construction party arrived from Saddle lake on Monday. The poles have been put up ready for the wire all the way to that point. The work of stringing the wire will commence at once.

WINTER set in on Saturday last and the weather was quite cold until Monday, since which time it has been moderating. Fine snow, sufficient to whiten the ground but not enough to make sleighing, fell during the week.

FREEMAN'S and Rainboth's survey parties, who have been surveying several townships at the intersection of the river by the 5th principal meridian, came down this week, having finished their work. Freeman's party left for Calgary on Thursday.

TIMBER wolves last week killed a calf belonging to Geo. Long, badly tore two belonging to D. Craig, killed one belonging to F. Gertin and two belonging to Amable Lamoureux all of Sturgeon river. Several black wolves have been seen among the depredators.

CALGARY.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE DISTRICT OF ALBERTA,

GENTLEMEN,—

Having been solicited by my many friends to offer myself as a candidate for the Dominion Parliament for the district of Alberta. After duly considering the matter I have decided to offer myself as an independent candidate but bound to advocate and support the interests of the North-West, and hope to secure the active assistance of every elector who expects to make this great and promising country his home.

THE EDMONTON BULLETIN is published every Saturday morning, at the office, Main street, Edmonton. Subscription—Two Dollars per annum. Advertising rates—Standing advertisements, two dollars a line per annum; transient advertisements, ten cents a line for first insertion and five cents a line for each subsequent insertion. FRANK OLIVER, proprietor.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, NOV. 27, 1886.

PROBABLY the most generally interesting case tried at the late court was that of McLean vs. Simpson, which was to decide whether the colonization company which were never supposed to have been granted a proprietary interest by the government, which never paid the price or fulfilled the first article of its agreement in regard to colonization, could exercise a proprietary right to prevent the cutting of hay on the land which they were supposed to but did not colonize. It may be remarked that the government never recognized the proprietary right of the company to the timber on the land, and since the question was raised by this case last summer has assumed control of the hay also. The judge held, however, that the company had a proprietary right to the land, and of course to the wood and hay, until the agreement with the government was cancelled. Speaking at Qu'Appelle a year ago on this very case the minister of interior said: "As soon as they get the patent they own the land; but as long as it is crown land I do not think they have any right whatever to sell hay or fine people for cutting hay, or in fact do anything like exercise any act of proprietorship over any land that does not belong to them." On the strength of these and kindred expressions of the minister McLean entered the late case in the nature of an appeal, and on these very grounds he was non-suited. The reputation of the minister is at stake in this matter. He cannot pose as the champion of the settler and allow one of them to suffer as McLean has in this case from following his lead. The minister and the judge are certainly not both right, and whichever is wrong in such an important case is as certainly not competent to fill the position which he holds.

GEN. STRANGE's electoral address to the people of Alberta appears elsewhere in this issue. With the courage that becomes a soldier the general has been the first of Alberta's aspirants to publicly announce his candidature. By doing so he places himself rather at a disadvantage, as he is now a common object of attack for all prospective candidates, while he can only remain on the defensive or fight the air until others are announced, which, seeing that election day is still distant, may not be until he has been disposed of. His address, which merely announces his candidature, offers the least possible opportunity of attack. It is strictly non-committal, but being so it offers no grounds of defence. He is a candidate. As such he has the opposition of all the other aspirants and their friends. And he has made no announcement of policy that would warrant people in rallying to his side and speaking in his behalf. That the general is personally popular, and deservedly so, there is no reason to doubt, but in this constituency of so many widely scattered communities no man need expect election on the grounds of personal popularity. The very qualities or actions that make him popular with one class or in one section are almost certain to make him as unpopular with another class or in another section. Glittering generalities, let them be ever so ably set forth, are no better. Alberta has a remarkably salubrious climate, but the people are not here for their health. This matter of the election of a representative is one of vital interest—that is of dollars and cents—and as such it should be dealt with. Alberta is a vast treasure house of undeveloped riches. To manage the development of those riches so as to produce the greatest good to the greatest number should be the first care of our representative. If he attends well to this, he may be allowed great latitude in other matters. What the people require to know from Gen. Strange or any other candidate is (1) Under what method of Administration does he propose that the resources of the district shall be developed? (2) Can he be depended upon to stand by his policy against opposition of every kind? (3) Has he the means to press upon the consideration of parliament his views of the requirements of his constituents? The candidate who can most satisfactorily answer these questions is the one most worthy of support. That the resources of Alberta have not been managed with a view to the benefit of the people a few instances will show. It was not in the public interest that for years settlers were shut out of the great grazing leases of the ranch country, nor that the attempt was made to corner the grazing industry by the wholesale granting of these leases. It is not in the public interest that the timber limits on the Red Deer and Saskatchewan are in the hands of men who have never cut a stick or sawed a board, and who are merely waiting for the time when the little remaining timber available on these rivers is consumed to levy toll on every board and every shingle that settlers along either river use. It is not in the public interest that the Galt company should be shut out by the C. P. R. monopoly from the United States market for their coal. It is not in the public interest that alleged colonization societies at Red Deer and Edmonton should be allowed to reap the advantage of other men's labors as it is proposed they shall. To remedy these and other like matters would be the duty of a popular representative, and not less to see that in future no such use is made of the native wealth of the country which should benefit not injure the people of the country. Let the people remember throughout this coming election contest that the franchise is a weapon which is as dangerous if handled improperly as it is useful if handled well.

NORTH-WEST COUNCIL.

TUESDAY, Nov. 9.

Petition presented from Prince Albert asking $150 for a bridge. Referred to finance committee.

Crawford from gopher committee presented a receipt for poisoning gophers and moved the repeal of the ordinance respecting poisons.

Richardson reported on the petition for the legalization of the incorporation of Prince Albert that the committee had not sufficient information to deal with the matter.

Jelly moved to consider the reply of the federal government to the resolutions of the council at last session. Some few of the resolutions had not been attended to as the council thought they should.

Turriff thought the government might have done more towards throwing open the odd sections. They might go so far as to buy back what had been granted to the C.P.R. A grievance was that this land was not taxable for municipal or school purposes.

Secord spoke of the government's speculation in town sites, which retarded the progress of towns. The lots were held at high figures and were not taxable.

Ross agreed with Secord and instanced the case of Moose Jaw.

The lieutenant-governor believed the reason the resolutions were not given as prompt attention by the government as was expected was that they embraced many subjects which belonged to different departments, and therefore could not be dealt with as promptly as if only a single department were concerned. In future resolutions should be sent to the department whose special concern they were.

Turriff asked if it was competent for the council to take any further steps towards taxing companies' lands.

The lieutenant-governor thought not.

Jelly agreed to refer the reply and report of the delegates to the memorial committee.

Secord introduced a bill to incorporate the Regina general hospital.

This bill to incorporate agricultural societies and joint stock companies passed a second reading.

Council in committee on the school ordinance. It was decided that the council should instruct the board of education as to the salaries of school inspectors and other officers of the board.

Secord moved the insertion of a clause empowering the board of education to establish one or more training schools for teachers.

Perley and Ross objected. If any town wanted such a school and was willing to pay for it the Council would assist.

Motion lost, only Secord voting for it. The bill passed its second reading.

Progress reported on the bill respecting the calling of jurors.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 10.

On account of a report that waterfowl were being slaughtered at Rush lake on the C.P.R. by four men armed with a swivel gun, on motion of Richardson the amended game ordinance was reconsidered.

Bills respecting cemetery companies and the calling of juries passed a second reading. Council in committee on bill respecting poisons ordinance. Objections were made and progress reported.

THURSDAY, Nov. 14.

Rouleau reported from the municipal committee a bill to amend the municipal ordinance of 1885. Also from the special committee re bridge on the south Saskatchewan asking the federal government to place a traffic bridge at the point to be crossed by the Long lake and Saskatchewan railway.

Ross reported from the finance committee re the petition of Dawson, Bole & Co., Regina druggists, in favor of the lieutenant-governor granting permits up to one barrel of alcohol to wholesale druggists, but that the fee of 50c a gallon be not reduced.

Marshall and Secord advocated the reduction of the fee to enable manufacturing druggists in the Territories to compete with outsiders.

Turriff opposed the concession. The druggists seemed to be increasing their business very fairly while paying the 50c a gallon fee. He objected to a relaxation of the restrictions on liquor.

Secord said the tax on druggists' alcohol was a tax on the sick.

Ross consented to let the report lie on the table. He introduced an amendment to the ordinance respecting the licensing of billiard tables.

Secord reported from the game law committee against the use of swivel or machine guns. Agreed to.

Jelly-Ross moved a committee of Turriff, Crawford, Marshall and themselves to consider the herd and fence ordinances.

Marshall-Ross introduced a bill to provide for the licensing and registration of druggists. Referred to civil law committee.

Secord's bill to incorporate the Regina hospital read a second time.

Council in committee on Marshall's bill repealing the poisons ordinance.

MacLeod moved that the poisons ordinance do not apply to poison placed under the surface of the ground for the purpose of killing vermin.

A return of the number of voters in each North-West electoral district was laid on the table showing that Edmonton had 209 and St. Albert 221.

FRIDAY, Nov. 26.

Richardson reported from committee that the bill licensing druggists be printed for consideration at next session.

Jelly reported amendments to the herd and fence ordinances.

Cayley read petitions from Calgary asking that the mayor be made a J. P., and for a grant towards a bridge across the Bow.

Marshall asked that his motion for the introduction of beer in the territories be allowed to stand over.

Turriff-Perley moved that the prohibitory law in the North-West be not changed until the people have decided in favor of such change by popular vote; that the C. P. R. be prohibited from selling liquor in the territories, and that liquor permits be only granted for medicinal purposes. Both mover and seconder spoke strongly and at length in favor of the motion.

Cayley-Lauder moved an amendment that the federal government be asked to substitute a local option law for the present permit system which the mover said was a fraud.

Ross moved adjournment of debate.

A return was presented showing the emoluments of clerks of the high court.

The municipal bill and bill respecting agricultural societies were considered in committee.

The Regina board of trade asked for the remission of their incorporation fee of $100. Referred to finance committee.

Richardson reported from committee the bill relating to the licensing and registration of druggists.

Turriff-Redford moved reconsideration of the bill providing for the incorporation of agricultural societies.

Council in committee on amendments to municipal ordinance. Referred back to municipal committee to consider the clause giving power to bonus railways, mills, etc.

Cayley moved that the qualification of a municipal voter be "any man who has paid his assessed taxes up to the time of such election." To be considered in committee.

COURT.

In the High Court of Justice, Edmonton District.

Court opened on Tuesday 23rd inst. Judge Rouleau presiding.

The following cases were disposed of.

Ross vs. Dunlop, note; verdict for plaintiff $83 05. Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Fraser & Co. vs. Butler, account; verdict for plaintiff $393 10, costs and counsel fee of $20; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Luc Authier vs. Robert Kelly, bill of exchange; verdict for plaintiff $327, costs and counsel fee of $20; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Veray vs. McKay, action for damages; verdict for plaintiff, costs and counsel fee of $10; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Belcher vs. Lamoureux; verdict for plaintiff $72, costs and counsel fee of $6; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Benon vs. Lamoureux et al, action for wages; verdict for plaintiff $151 32, costs, and counsel fee of $12; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Wm. Maloney vs. Narcisse Beaudry, account; verdict for plaintiff $28 40, costs and counsel fee of $5; Strachan for plaintiff, defendant in person.

McLean vs. Simpson. This case was argued on demurrer, defendant contending that no cause of action existed as the plaintiff had been convicted by a justice of the peace and that the conviction remained unreversed. Plaintiff's counsel contended that at the time of conviction there was no appeal in the North-West Territories from a magistrate's conviction, and that irrespective of this point the statement showed a sufficient cause of action. Judgment reserved. Watson for demurrer, Strachan contra.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 24.

McLean vs. Simpson. Judgment on demurrer. That at the time of conviction an appeal existed, and if defendant felt aggrieved by conviction his remedy was by appeal. That there were sufficient other grounds of action shown. Trial ordered for Thursday morning by jury demanded by plaintiff.

Wood vs. Hayes, account; verdict for plaintiff $10 50; Strachan for plaintiff, no defence.

Belcher vs. Chave, note; verdict for plaintiff $84, costs and counsel fee of $7.

Henderson vs. Graham, action on account and for damages for setting out fire. Objection taken that the writ was not served in time. Objection allowed; trial fixed for first day of next sittings of court. Watson for plaintiff, Strachan for defence.

McLeod vs. Oliver, action on land; non-suit and counsel fee of $10; Strachan for plaintiff, Watson for defendant.

Curran vs. trustees of Saskatchewan school district; action by the plaintiff for $250 for arrears of salary as school mistress. The defence set up was that the school district was not properly organized, that the trustees who assumed to engage the plaintiff had no authority to do so, that her engagement was not under seal nor in writing and was invalid as against the defendants; and that the school district when organized and the rate-payers had repudiated the action of the two trustees. Court held that as the plaintiff had rendered her services she was entitled to recover. Watson for plaintiff, Strachan for defendants.

Fraser & Co. vs. Noyes; action on account; postponed to next court; Watson for plaintiff.

In two cases of Carscaden & Peck vs. Sinclair, Fraser & Sutter, judgments were entered against the defendant Sutter and Sinclair and Fraser were discharged; Watson for plaintiffs, Strachan for Sinclair and Fraser.

Hudson Bay Co. vs. Kelly; judgment for plaintiffs $81 49; Watson for plaintiffs, Strachan for defendant.

Chable vs. Kelly; judgment for defendant on plea of payment into court; Watson for defendant.

McDougall vs. Paquet; judgment for plaintiff $148 50 and costs; Watson for plaintiff.

THURSDAY, Nov. 25.

McLean vs. Simpson. This case occupied the whole day. A jury was sworn composed as follows: A. D. Osborne, T. Hourston, T. B. Henderson, W. Stiff, Donald Ross and Thomas Smith. Plaintiff's counsel addressed the jury, and the evidence of both parties having been given the judge held that an agreement produced by the defendant between the crown and the Edmonton and Saskatchewan land company gave that company a title to the lands included in such agreement until the same was cancelled by the governor-general-in-council. He disagreed with the contention of the plaintiff's counsel, that the company had merely the right to colonize the tract and therefore entered a non-suit and withdrew the case from the jury. Counsel fee of $80 allowed to defendant's counsel. Strachan for plaintiff, Watson for defendant.

FRIDAY, Nov. 26.

Tribaudon et al vs. Sinclair & Co.; judgment for plaintiffs $148 35 and costs; Watson for plaintiffs, Strachan for defendants.

McDonald vs. McLeod; judgment for plaintiff $134 40 with interest and costs; Watson for plaintiff, Strachan for defendant.

Paquet vs. Kelly; judgment of non-suit and costs; Strachan for plaintiff, Watson for defendant.

Hudson Bay Co. vs. McDonnell; judgment for plaintiffs, $20 and costs.

McCauley vs. Strachan; adjourned to 1st day of next court; Watson for plaintiff, Kildahl for defendant.
